Songwriter is singing success

SINGER songwriter Nikki Felle says her only love is making good music

The German-born artist who lives in Shortlands, Bromley, lists everything from pop and jazz to classical and salsa as major influences on her music.

Nikki has now made it through to the London regional final of music contest Open Mic UK on November 1.

She is one of a number of fresh new artists to profile themselves on the News Shopper website's Your Music section.

To join Nikki Felle and other new artists looking for their big break, fill in an online form, including a short profile of yourself with a photograph.
